“ Ed, we were blessed to have you in our lives. You left us great memories and we will think of you often. There will never be another like you. We had such fun whenever we all got together throughout the years, traveling back and forth to each others homes for vacations and as the kids grew so did we. What a gift life gave us. And, now you are off on another adventure paving the way for the best that is to come. Until we all meet again we will find comfort in the gracious and beautiful family you left behind. To everyone, especially Karen my dear friend, Christy, Cody, Alex and Bobby may God be your strength and remember I love you all.##imported-begin##Terry Hieb##imported-end##

“ Words can never ease a heart that is heavy with sorrow and grief. We are so sorry for your loss. We will miss Ed tremendously as he was cherished and loved deeply by our family. He taught my husband how to fish the Pacific Ocean in Westport, WA. He would always make sure that others on his boat would "catch the big one" and never come back empty-handed. Ed was like a father figure to Jason. Jason adored Ed very much. Ed would stop by the house on occasion just to say hi to Jason. In Westport, Ed always stopped by our campsite to either show off his huge catches of the day; which were always the very biggest in our group, to help Jason fillet his own fish that he caught, or to just talk about the day of fishing while drinking Keystone Light. Ed will be forever missed in our family. Westport fishing trips will NEVER be the same without Ed there. Ed was a compassionate, giving and selfless man, one of the most gentle spirits we have ever known. We love you Ed.

Seems like yesterday Ed and I were on our way to CdA in the after. Ed was a good man. The memories as a friend and as a
