“Dad my heart is torn apart I wish I could have called you or been there for you. I want you to know when I was young I had slot of anger because I felt like you didn't love me enough to want to be in my life when I was with nanny all that time. I was wrong when I became a dad my love for Jeromy jr was a love without end or boundaries since his mother remarried and decided to move away with him I haven't seen him in 4 years and it's the biggest reason my life has gotten out of control and led to drug abuse my life felt like and still feels like it had its purpose ripped away I want my loved ones to understand why I'm at where I am with the drugs and all but all they see is the hurt I caused them by hurting myself which I will forever regret. I love all my family just like I always have and always will I guess dad what I want you to know is I know you love me just like I love my son and I'm so sorry I let all that anger I felt as a kid effect us. Being grown with my own son I know now you did the best you could, made your mistakes and I'm sure you wished you could go back and change slot of things. Daddy you need to know I'm sorry for not being the son I could have been and I also forgive you for
Any mistakes you made trying to be the best daddy you knew how to be I LOVE YOU I WILL NEVER FORGET YOU AND I CANT WAIT TO SEE YOU AGAIN. Your battle is over dad it's time for you to rest ,as your first born son it's my turn to take the reigns and make you proud Daddy you rest in heaven I got this down here till I see you again I love you , your son Jeromy Wayne Henricks sr.

“ One thing that I will always remember and cherish about my father was his tremendous work ethic. He showed not only myself but everyone that he ever met what you can achieve through hard work and determination. I hope that I am able to be half that man that he was and will do my best to honor his memory. This world is emptier without him in it. Love and miss you Dad.
