“ Glenn and Fon have been part of our construction "family" since the early 1950's. My father, Bud Spitzer, worked with Glenn and brought him, and Glenn's roommate, Lee Woodbury, home for dinner one holiday and we adopted them both on the spot. I later married Lee and Fon and Glenn also embraced our three children. When Lee died in 1971, Fon and Glenn were there for us. They have been part of our families celebrations, weddings, funerals and always close to our hearts.

I am sure Glenn and Lee are reunited now and waiting for us to come join in their celebration.##imported-begin##Barbara Spitzer (Woodbury) Laws##imported-end##

“ Fon,

My heart and prayers are with you...I'm so sorry for your loss...I pray these words will bring you comfort...it gave me a picture of Glenn meeting the Lord...it's a song by Glenn Smith called "The Day I Go Home":

"The day I climb Heaven's stairs, I will find Love everywhere.

Because many I have loved, are waiting there above.

My soul will fly free, as loved ones fly with me.

I'll see the Promised Land, AS I HOLD THE LORD'S HAND...

The Angels will sing songs, on the day I go home.

I'll be met at the gate, by loved ones that wait.

I will miss those I leave, on a day they will grieve, but I will see them again when the Lord let's them in."

Fon, I wish I could say more, but for now I'll just say how sorry I am for your pain and suffering and I love you...Shea###imported-begin##Shealeah Brom###imported-end##
