“ Oh, Jacqueline. What happened? You were too young to leave us all—almost two years younger than me! We grew up together, played together, planned, argued, shared dreams and nightmares. I knew you for your entire life of 56 years—longer than I've known anyone else—even our parents. I just finished typing your obituary, something I never thought I'd be doing. I know you're gone because everyone wouldn't be lying to me about a thing like that! I even saw your ashes become one with the great Pacific Ocean. But I'm still having a difficult time of really accepting that you're gone. I keep seeing, hearing, and thinking of things that remind me of you: your beloved Tonga, who is with me now; your precious little China, who I never got to meet "in person" but heard so much about from you; your beloved sons and grandchildren; anything Japanese(!); muscle cars; dump trucks (which you were fascinated with, of all things); Tom Jones; Irish step dancing; and your recently acquired hobby of collecting, renovating, and selling troll dolls.

I came home from four days of camping with friends, had it on my mind to call you in just a few days (after I finished some things I needed to attend to) so that I could find out how you were doing with your search for a new home. But I never got to make that call; you were already gone. I didn't even get to say a proper goodbye to you. I was hoping to be able to come back up to Washington to visit you sometime soon, maybe after I found a suitable used Roadtrek I've been saving for. The weather was finally starting to cool down enough for me to have some Builder's Bars sent to you without them melting in the summer heat; you know, your favorite ones, the chocolate mint. Oh, and lemon zest Luna bars, too. But I never get to send you anything anymore except my thoughts and memories, and I'll be getting no more responses from you...ever. It's unbelievably hard for me to conceive of this. I love you and miss you, Girl, very much.##imported-begin##Margaret Hill##imported-end##

“ Oh Virginia,
My heart aches for you. So young and so much life yet to live.

I hope it helps to know other care.
My thoughts are with you

“ Hi Ginny & Margaret,

*I'm so sorry to hear about Jackie. We still have fond memories of her when Jackie & Margaret came to visit us when we lived in Erie. I often think of the vacation that we all went on to Mesa Verde. God has received a beautiful & caring angel. Please let us know if there is anything we can do. You will all be in our thoughts & prayers.

“ That she is now in a better place with her suffering gone is some consolation, yet my heart is filled with sorrow at the loss of her to her sisters. Love you both, M & V. You two are always in my thoughts and prayers, but even more so in this difficult time.

Lord, give to Jacqueline eternal rest, let light perpetual shine upon her.##imported-begin##Johnny Travis##imported-end##

“ I never met Jacqueline, always thinking I would see her someday in the not so distant future. I wish I could have. Even though I never met her, I still loved her greatly and had wonderful talks on the phone. The night I found out that she passed, I thought I would suddenly die along with her. At least, it felt like I would. It felt wrong not to have her within calling distance. I wish I could have talk to her much more often. I hope that she has found her place with God and any of her sorrows are being lifted from her shoulders.##imported-begin##Angela Travis##imported-end##

“ You are gone and all we are left with are questions. Questions we'll likely never receive answers to. I hope you had faith enough to lead you to a place of serenity. No pain, no wanting for anything, no loneliness - just peace.

Love you, Girl.##imported-begin##Virginia Travis##imported-end##
