“ While I didn't know her well before she entered the care of the Lakeview home, I did get to know her while she was there. Del had asked me let him know how she was as he was often unable to in get to check on her himself.

Jane was a dear precious little lady. I once had the privilege of taking her shopping and to a local fast food restaurant for lunch. We had a fun day together. Over the years after that she would remind me how good her chicken sandwich had been and might I bring her another one. LOL

She was especially fond of cheeseburgers, french fries, orange pop, and dark chocolates. I would always bring something. We would sit together and munch away, talking about how life used to be, about some of the members of the CMA church, some of the places she and husband Del ministered, sometimes praying, sometimes laughing, sometimes crying, always hugging.

It was always hard to say, "See you later." I could not get to see her enough.

I, and many others, are so very glad that our Lord has graciously called her home.

See you later, Jane. Hope to see you and Del soon. Love you.-
