“ Jayson was my foster brother, We we’re inseparable for the first 7 years of our lives, I remember when we played WWE with each other and we would do a move in the game then we would get pillows and blankets put them on the ground in-front of the couch, then we would call brandon in the room and we would wrestle with him. Me and jayson drifted when we got into elementary school, We caught up later in life in 6th grade june 2020. We grew a lot closer all the way up until his death. When i found out that you passed away, The world stopped. My older brother was gone and i could never talk to him again. i couldn’t see him anymore i couldn’t text him or call him, I quit soccer, I completely stopped everything i was doing in life. I isolated myself from my parents, My family, Friends, school. I learned about 3 months later that i can’t stop living life because that’s not what you would want me to do. you would want me to live life. Do good in sports, Do good in school, do good in life. Me and jayson may not have been “blood brothers“ but we were brothers at heart, Brothers since we were born. He was the kind of person who’s smile lit up the room, The kind of person who would sit and listen to your problems and just try his best to make sure you were feeling okay. I love and miss you and i hope your resting easy and playing football up there.

“ Once I found out the news, I stayed home from school as I laid in my bed crying until the next day. It's mind blowing how things can happen so fast, felt like yesterday when he would give me hugs and check in on me as well as taking my Dutch I would bring every Tuesday and Wednesdays to youth group. I loved having art class with him as we would do our projects together. I wish I could've let him know how much I appreciated him just one last time and how everyone loved him. Sending lots of love to the Pankratz Family 🙏

“ Jayson will always be a special part of our family. Over the years he and Hayden grew up together, shared laughs, played sports, and shared a special bond. It doesn't matter what happens or how life changes those that are important are always important. Much love to all of the Pankratz family! We love you #24

“ Such a wonderful family. I was lucky that Bud and Shirley trusted me to watch Jayson when he was little and they had to work . He was a bright beautiful boy . He made me laugh all the time. My whole family loved him . One of my favorite memories was on Friday I would make for my daycare kiddos homemade cookies . He would tell me all the time that he wanted me to make them every day. I hope he is getting cookies every day in Heaven.
