“ Jeremy was one of a kind he inspired me in ways I couldn't even express. I thought I was done with Music but I took a chance and not long after was I shocked to receive a message from him offering to do artwork for me because he loved my song so much. I first I was taking back because no one had offered to do something like that for me, but I said sure I'd be honored That was the beginning of beautiful friendship. I always thought he was looking over me. I always wondered why me but now I know because he's a beautiful wonderful person and he was just a perfect soul. I know he'll be watching over me now and I'll see him on the other side. My life is better after meeting Jeremy. My deepest condolences to his family and his wife. I only had the honor for a few years and I'll never forget rest in peace, my friend. -DS

“ Jeremy was a talented songwriter, musician, and artist. He was also a very kind friend, and one I had the honor of collaborating with on music projects and album artwork. He was well-respected in the pop punk community among friends and fellow musicians, and his work remains distinctive and easily recognizable due to his original approach. My sincere condolences to Amy and his family.

*Sincerely,
Dustin Umberger*
