“ Kitty,

I miss him already! His morning e-mails used to keep several of us laughing all day. Lee gave so much to everyone around him and asked for nothing in return. Remember that you have the support and love of many.##imported-begin##Juliann##imported-end##

“ Being born just 10 months apart and looking very much alike, my younger brother Lee and I used to say we were "half twins". We were very close growing up and embarked upon many fun-filled adventures - some of which I'm sure our parents would have frowned upon. As we aged and moved to different parts of the country our time together became limited, but was still much looked forward to.

Early on our mother instilled in all of three of us boys the fact that "can't never did anything". Our parents manifested a "can-do" attitude toward life in general and work problems in detail. We were taught the value of hard work. Lee epitomized the best of the qualities of Mom and Dad all rolled into one. Dad taught him to think "outside the box" and envision new and progressive ways of doing things. Mom taught him that you should always be learning something new. Dad's craftsmanship was passed down to Lee in high degree. I was always amazed and impressed by the things he was making and accomplishing. I am very proud to let people know he was my brother.

My heart goes out to Kitty, Lisa, and Rod as they deal with the loss of husband and father. He loved his family dearly, and even during the most painful and discouraging bouts with cancer his concern was more for his wife than himself.

I look forward to seeing Lee again in heaven based on our mutual faith in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. Even now I'm sure he's enjoying seeing Mom and Dad, and Granny and Grandpa Willis, along with other family members. He is missed ... but not for long!###imported-begin##Ray Willis###imported-end##

“ Lee was the best friend I have had. I always enjoyed our conversations and short visits. He had the respect and appreciation of all his friends. I am sure God will have plenty of projects for him. It was a pleasure knowing him. Good bye Lee Honey.

“ *My heart is so empty. We've lost a true friend. His devotion to his precious wife and friends was inspiring. He will forever be loved and admired by all. He IS and always will be a big brother to his online siblings. Kitty, please, when you need someone to talk to...when things settle down or if you need anything, please contact us. We owe you so much for loaning us your husband. His courage thru this battle was amazing. Please know that he was more concerned about you than he was about himself. What a great man!##imported-begin##Debra Harris (aka Brickie)##imported-end##*

“ Kitty. I am so, so very sorry for your loss. Lee was SO funny, caring, and such a good friend. I am part of the group "The Menhitters" Lee always came to my defense when anyone would pick on me too much. And he could sense when I was truly hurting about something, and would try to give me hope and comfort. I haven't been in contact with him for several years now, but was very saddened to hear of his passing. I pray God gives you peace and strength to carry on.##imported-begin##Julie Bunt (jules1965 on Yahoo!) ##imported-end##

“ Dear Kitty and family, Please accept my deepest heartfelt condolences at your loss. I will always remember Lee's words of wisdom when I told him I was diagnosed with MS....giving up isn't an option, fighting like hell is. And Lee did just that...fought to the end. Angels now have him and our hearts are filled with sadness. Please know we hold you and your family in our thoughts and prayers always.##imported-begin##Grace Orvis (aka mallidalli)##imported-end##
