“ I have thought of Pat's life and friends for quite sometime. There is no hard fast rules governing friendship relationship. No legal requirements Make a friendship official. Never take a friend for granted. Friendships is like a garden it must be nurtured. Pat was this no matter how other people treated or what they did to her or her children. She was a friend to the end. Even though I knew Pat a time We did share alot between the two of us. Her children were her life and got very concern when people tried to do them wrong. I know that her children loved her very much. They will have great memories##imported-begin##Pam##imported-end##

“ You adopted me as your younger sister, dear Pat. You would want me to post a joke here but I'm flat footed with needing to say "hello! Good morning!" with you again. You loved all lonesome needy creatures. Possibly that hooked me and snagged me. I see you standing on the beach at Guemes Island and I see you sitting down to tea, checking to be sure you'd not stepped on Quanta pup. You were a genuine person; not pretentious, not puffed up, just ready to laugh, to hug, to knit another baby blanket. That one Christmas you made so many baby caps for the poor that folks wanted to show case you. You refused. You loved the babies and didn't want the attention. That was and is the Pat I knew. I am honored to have had another sister in my life. Your spirit, dear Pat, will never leave. Your kind love will be seen again and again in the eyes of your children and grandchildren.##imported-begin##Lenore Plassman##imported-end##
