“ Sweet Pauline. I still can't believe that you have had to fight for so many years for your health. No one our age should have to endure what you did. You were always so positive though. Hands down one of the strongest women I've met. You always had a beautiful smile on your face and wished everyone well even when you weren't. I'll never forget you. I hope that your family can find peace now that you are home. No pain, no doctors, no worries. Rest peacefully Pauline and one day we will all meet again. Until then watch over your loved ones and let your presence be known in their hearts. <3
