“ Randy was definitely the quiet one of the bunch. While his siblings were causing a ruckus, he was included but not so noisy. I am so sorry Randy that you felt that you had no one to turn to in this time of crisis. I know you were lonely and loneliness is the hardest thing of all. ❤️

“ Randy Raap was my friend in the neighborhood. I moved to Moses Lake in June of 2021, 4 lots down the street. Randy took daily walks and in no time we were visiting on all sorts of subjects. I noticed Randy was kinda quiet but I'd ask lots of questions and he shared his way of looking at his world. Farming, his dirt biking days, concerts at the gorge, ways of staying "in shape" and eating healthy. You could feel the honesty in his answers.

I'm into gardening and Randy was happy to help me with the overflow. He would walk by on a 50 degree day in shorts and no shirt! I'd say, "Randy aren't you cold?", his reply was, "yeah but I'm trying to lose weight."

We shared quite a few good laughs together. Randy was a humble man. He was not one to complain. He cast no stones, never saying bad things about others. In my eyes, Randy had no fear, he was comfortable in his own skin. A pure child of God.

I will sorely miss seeing Randy. He was a bright spot in my day, bringing me some good energy.

I wish everyone in Randy's world all the best of memories and to remember the goodness he brought to the lucky ones who knew him.

*Peace be with you dear Randy,
Scott and Jacqueline Harmon*

“ I feel so blessed to have gotten to spend time with Randy in April at our family reunion. His kind and sweet spirit will live on in my heart. I am thinking of you Uncle Ward and Aunt Barb and will call when the time is right. I remember all of us running around grandma and grandpa's like little feral cats and being a girl not old enough to hang with Carla and Kathy, and not being a boy to hang around with the brat pack of boys Randy always treated me with kindness.... he will be missed❤️

December 1979, at Raap Grandparents, Randy is smiling so nicely sitting between goofy Doug and Duane.
