“ Bobbie I'll never forget your smile your laugh and the way we use to sing to the radio both out of tune but we didn't care, we would sing to the oldies and you and I shared the same bed until I got married to David I couldn't be any closers to anyone than you and I were little sister . I miss you terribly and I have stopped crying for 2 days now. I know I'm supposed to live memories here but I can't get pass the pain of losing you . I do know your at peace and that gives me some comfort but my heart is broken and I'll never get over losing you I love you my little sister 💔

“ My deepest condolences to your family. My memories of Bobbie are from our childhoods, as our mothers were best friends. We had so much fun playing, laughing, goofing off together. I cherish those memories, even though we haven't spent time together in ages.

“ Growing up Bobbi and Steve were my second parents, during I spent more time at their house then I did my own. She used to call me Eddie Haskell and still did up until the last time we spoke at Ben's house this summer. Thanks for the love and all the life's lessons. Raising three girls I can only hope they grow to live and love fiercely , to have an opinion and the strength to express it as you did.
